Annual Carol Service Due Sunday and Monday

Several Choral Works on Program to Be Sung for First Time in America—Professors Manton and Shaw of Music Department in Charge of Program

The annual Christmas Carol services by the combined glee clubs will be given Sunday, December 8, at 4.15 o'clock, and Monday, December 9, at 8.15 o'clock in the Community Church under the direction of Professor Robert W. Manton, head of the Music department, assisted at the organ by Mr. Harris S. Shaw, of the Music department.

Several of the numbers are being presented for the first time in this country, having been obtained from England last summer by Professor Manton.

These services make an admirable preparation for the Spirit of Christmas, and are free to everyone. It is permissible to attend both performances if one wishes.

FRUIT JUDGERS WIN CONTEST AT ORONO

New Hampshire Men Score 1,579 Points of 1,650 Possible—Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maine Finish in Order

The New Hampshire fruit judging team, composed of students selected and trained by Dr. L. P. Latimer of the Department of Horticulture, has just returned from the New England Intercollegiate Fruit Judging Contest held last Saturday, November 30, at Orono, Maine, bearing the victor's trophy. George Tuttle of Dover, John Whittemore of Derry, and Forrest Tenney of Antrim, were the men who composed the victorious team.

Their total score was 1,579 points out of a possible 1,650. The Connecticut team scored 1,665, Massachusetts, 1,553, and Maine, 1,520. Anderson of Connecticut had highest individual score, 535 out of a possible 550. Tuttle of New Hampshire and Campbell of Massachusetts tied for second place with a score of 533. Whittemore of New Hampshire was next with a score of 529.

The cup awarded the New Hampshire team is a gift received this year from the Maine State Chamber of Commerce. It must be won three times before it becomes the permanent possession of any school.

Pan Hellenic Dance Friday

Details Complete for Annual Sorority Formal

Professor Hills Selected to Assist Alpha Chi Omega Committee in Planning Decorations—Guests from Other Colleges Expected to Attend

Pan Hellenic will hold its annual formal in the men's gymnasium Friday evening, December 6, at 8 o'clock. The final plans for this most brilliant affair of the social season have been completed. The Alpha Chi Omega sorority who has charge of the decorations is being assisted by Professor Barton Hills. He has aided other organizations on the campus successfully and the decorations for the dance are to be entirely different from any in past years.

The Chi Omega sorority has charge of the refreshments and music. It has secured Louis Schwartz and his "Kampus Kut-Ups," of eleven hot pieces of syncopated rhythm.

The advisory board and its partners has been chosen by the Alpha Xi Delta sorority as the chaperones of the evening. They include Mrs. Elizabeth P. DeMeritt, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Bushmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. George W. White, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sweet and Miss Katherine Watson. Many guests from other colleges are also expected to attend.

Players Will Present Comedy

"So This Is London" to Be New Term Production

"He Who Gets Slapped" Cancelled for Professional Revival—Mask and Dagger Winter Production to Visit Several State Cities

George M. Cohan's delightful comedy, "So This Is London," will be the winter term production of Mask and Dagger of the University of New Hampshire instead of "He Who Gets Slapped," the play originally scheduled for production, according to an announcement made early this week by Professor William G. Hennessy of the Department of English. A professional revival of the famous Russian play has caused the cancellation of all amateur rights, hence the change of schedule for the local players.

"So This Is London" is a farcical comedy, with hardly a serious moment in the three acts. The play presents vividly the old argument of English versus American customs and actions, and the differences in the two nationalities provokes many mirthful situations during the progress of the play.

Tryouts for the production have been in progress this week, and the cast when finally selected will commence work at once. It is expected that the cast of "So This Is London" will see many well known Mask and Dagger performers in action again, including Dorothy Jones, '30, who will be remembered for outstanding work in "Icebound," "Dear Brutus" and "The Dover Road"; William Nelson, '30, who has done excellent work in "The Show Off" and "Dear Brutus," who gave an exceptional portrayal in "Dear Brutus"; and Paul Blaisdell, '30, who played the leading role in "The Dover Road" and has appeared in "She Stoops to Conquer," "Seven Chances" and "Dear Brutus."

Following the usual custom it is expected that the winter term production will visit Concord and Manchester for performances after showing here. It is not definitely decided whether "So This Is London" will be given as a part of the annual Winter Carnival program. Announcement of this will be made at a later date. The complete cast of "So This Is London" will appear in an early issue of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE.

ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE HELD AT ALPHA XI DELTA HOME

Energetic Sleuth Discovers Secretly Veiled 'Black List'

By K. E. H. K.

Behind the charming veneer of brilliant social parties and the enlightening quality of an educational institution, the campus is said to have secretly veiled a mysterious "Black List."

Like a grave, mighty thought, threading a dream, it has stirred amazement and indignation, admiration and perplexity. The male student is agog at the very thought but as a college man can not be shocked, he changes from the serious expression into one representing a gay, relaxed, whirling world and will believe that anything is possible. With the coeds, a show of gleaming white teeth and a pleased smile will tell one where the very idea came from. The rather plump girl will tell one that she has no black list. Don't believe her, it is just a magnetic expression.

Known indiscretions have been camouflaged and answers come like this—"He is not grown up yet"—but in secret boudoirs, one can imagine the rhythm of music is not so smooth. It might put the recent D. A. R. effervescence to shame.

From the laughing and chatting companionships in the drawing rooms and from the heat and whirl of the dance floor, the social circles are ranked by a dreaded but inevitable sore that has stolen the thunder of the ball.

Y ADVISORY BOARD CHOOSES SECRETARY

Miss Lura Aspinwall Comes to Campus in January to Fill Position of Women's Leader Left Vacant by Resignation of Miss Orel Henthorne

The semi-annual meeting of the Advisory Board of Christian Work at the University of New Hampshire was held Tuesday afternoon in the Commons' Organization room. The body is made up of representatives of state church boards, state Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., alumni of the university, faculty and administrative officers, the President of the university, and representatives of the student body and student Y. M. and Y. W. as well as the employed secretaries ex-officio.

Much important business was transacted but outstanding in significance was the election of Miss Lura E. Aspinwall to become Secretary for Women on the campus to take the place of Miss Orel E. Henthorne.

Miss Lura E. Aspinwall, who will come to this campus in January as Women's Secretary of Christian Work and successor to Miss Orel Henthorne, is a woman of excellent training and of considerable experience especially in religious work with students. Although just receiving her degree this January from Auburn School of Religious Education, Miss Aspinwall has studied previously at several other colleges and universities among which are Northwestern University and the University of Colorado. She has worked with large numbers of students of the University of Nebraska having been engaged in this work for five years, directing their religious and social life. She has had secretarial-training and has served as a financial secretary in religious work. She is strongly endorsed by the National Student Council of the Y. W. C. A. and highly recommended from many sources.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Members of the cabinet of the YMCA and others interested met on Monday night before the fireplace of Mr. Andrews' home to enjoy popcorn and discuss the carry-over values of religion as taught by the average church from which the student comes. As is usually the case with these smaller group meetings which alternate with the larger open meetings with special programs what was lost in quantity was made up in quality and interest.

Next Monday at the regular weekly meeting of the YMCA in the Trophy room from seven to eight Prof. Julio Berzunza will talk on his summer in Mexico. This promises to be one of the most entertaining and instructive programs of this fall term. Everyone is invited.

Lyceum Course Opens Tonight

Marionettes First of Exceptional Series

"Rip Van Winkle" Scheduled for Presentation Tonight—Marionettes Favorites in Past Years—Record Crowd Expected

Tony Sarg's company of marionettes will open the University Lyceum course of six programs tonight at eight o'clock in the Men's gymnasium with the dramatization of Washington Irving's story, "Rip Van Winkle." The remaining five numbers of the course will come at intervals during next term.

Tonight's program by the puppets will be the first one offered by Mr. Sarg's company in Durham since two years ago when they presented "Treasure Island." Puppet plays were very popular in the middle ages during which many companies of the lifelike dolls toured the countries of Europe. There was then a lack of interest in Marionettes for a time until just before the war it was revived. The only puppets in the United States at that time were a few Punch and Judy shows made by (Continued on Page 4)

BOXING TOURNAMENT OPENS INTRAMURALS

Rushing Policy Necessitates Separate Division for Freshmen in Interfraternity Bouts Scheduled for January 7, 9, 13, and 16

Intramural activities for the winter term will be opened on January 7 when the first bouts of the Interfraternity Boxing Tournament will be held with follow-up matches on the 9th, 13th, and 16th. Also for the first time there will be held separate bouts for the freshmen who will be unable to compete with fraternity men because of the second term rushing policy adopted this year.

The Intramural trophy is held by Theta Kappa Phi who defeated Theta Chi for the championship last year. In both divisions there will be 115, 125, 135, 145, 160, 175, and unlimited classes. Weighing in will take place from 3-5 p. m. on the day of the first matches and each day a man is to box. Each individual entered must receive medical examination for every bout in which he is to fight. Participants will furnish their own bandages for their hands.

Mayor Paul H. Blaisdell will act as announcer. Bouts offer Coach Reed a chance to see freshman material which may give possibilities for future varsity use. Frosh with any (Continued on Page 4)

Twenty-Three Players Win N. H. for Football

Freshman Football, Varsity and Freshman Cross Country Players Receive Awards—Many Numerals for Frosh Gridsters

Letter awards for football and cross country were made by the athletic committee of the university late Tuesday night for both freshman and varsity. Twenty-three members of the victorious Wildcat squad will be given letters while thirty-six freshmen made football numerals. Seven letters were awarded for cross country with nine freshman harriers earning numerals. James Hanley was awarded a letter as official cheer leader.

The number of awards in practically every one of these sports compares very closely with the number given last season while the year before there were very few football letters given.

TO THE COMMUTERS

It is seldom that we have to say anything to the commuters in particular. Often in general we address them with the other members of the student body, but this time we single them out and devote our efforts in their direction. Unfortunately what we have to say is not complimentary.

We understand that many of the men commuters enjoy their lunch in the basement of the gymnasium, and while doing so it seems that a great many include a bottle of milk in their menu. So far this is entirely satisfactory. Far be it from us to ask them to take up the Hollywood diet and drink more milk, or deny them the warmth of the locker room for a dining room. Trouble arises, however, after these good people have imbibed of the fluid and then begin to dispose of the bottles. During the past few weeks the cement floor of the gymnasium has been, several times, strewn with broken glass, and it didn't take a Philo Vance to learn that the glass was from broken milk bottles.

It may be that some of the men are practicing a forward pass game during the noon hour, using a milk bottle for a football in the manner of two movie stars in a motion picture some years back. The spirit of the thing may be good enough, but the possible outcome should bear some weight in the matter.

It is not hard to imagine one of the star Wildcat basketball, hockey or winter sports men forced out of competition on the day before an important meet from cuts received on glass strewn about the gymnasium floor. If the persons responsible for this condition in the gymnasium have no feeling for other individuals we ask that they might think of the possible outcome to the University as a whole. If it has been only thoughtlessness let this be a reminder, and if milk bottles must be thrown why not go out into the "open spaces" to do your throwing.

FRUIT EXHIBITION FEATURES APPLES

Display in Charge of Horticultural Judging Class, Opens Today in Morrill 211—Showing Under Supervision of Prof. L. P. Latimer

A novelty, in the line of agricultural exhibits, is presented to the public during the remainder of this week, in the form of a fruit display, according to Prof. L. P. Latimer of the department of Horticulture at this University. The affair opened this afternoon in room 211 of Morrill Hall, and will continue through Saturday, under the supervision of the fruit judging class which is in charge of Professor Latimer. Members of the class will be on hand to explain the different varieties of the fruits to the visitors.

Included in the exhibit are samples of nearly all the different kinds of apples grown in the various states which are represented in the American Apple Belt. Excellent specimens of the "New England Seven" varieties are also on display, presenting a fine opportunity for those who are ignorant of those varieties selected by

Tech Installs Ground School

Course in Aeronautics to Start Winter Term

Work to be Handled in Mechanic Engineering Department by Professor of Automotive Engineering—Open to Engineering in Junior Year

According to an official announcement from Dean George W. Case, the College of Technology of the University of New Hampshire has installed work in Aeronautics to start the beginning of the winter term this year. The work is based upon the course designed by the Federal Government to furnish ground school training required before they will grant a class "B" license for flying.

The course is to be handled in the Mechanical Engineering Department, under the direction of the Professor in charge of Automotive Engineering, and taken by the engineering students during their junior years. In the fall term these students will take Meteorology, a course formerly given by Dean C. H. Pettie, but now taught by H. M. Rugg, an instructor in Civil Engineering, who is a member of the Board of Directors of the American Society of Automotive Engineers. This subject deals with air currents and their relation to the operation of aeroplanes. The winter will be devoted to aviation engineering including the principles of internal combustion, carburetion, cooling, lubrication and ignition of the aeroplane engine; and Air Planes, including the history of aviation, theory of flight, terminology, construction, rigging, maintenance and repair. This work will be given by Mr. William R. Hilliard, who was graduated at the University in 1920, and who was an instructor in Aviation during the War following a course in Aeronautics at Cornell University. The spring term will be devoted to air commerce regulations and aeronautical navigation, and taught by Mr. E. W. Christensen, who was graduated at the University in Electrical Engineering in 1923. After spending several years with the West Pennsylvania Power Company at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Mr. Christensen returned to the University as an athletic coach. He is well qualified to give work of this kind on account of having devoted considerable time to its relation to air plane flying in connection with activities he carries on during the summer recesses.

The plane that will be used for instruction during the winter term has been loaned to the University by the Northeast Airways Corporation of Manchester, New Hampshire, and will be flown here by Mr. Hilliard and placed in the Automotive Laboratory of the University for experimental purposes. In the laboratory it will be stripped of all covering in order that its structure may be studied. The engine will be taken out and tested on the electrical dynamometer in the laboratory, and at the end of the term the students will put the plane back in shape for operation, including the placement of new covering, and the plane will be flown away by Mr. Hilliard for its regular commercial use during the spring, summer and fall season. The University authorities decided to use this plane, which is still in active operation, rather than ask the government to loan a plane that had become unfit for regular use, since engineering students at the University are in the habit of using equipment for their studies which is in regular operation, as evidenced by the use of equipment in the power plant for steam laboratory purposes.

The students at the University who have signed up for this aeronautical work include: John W. Bailey, West Newbury, Mass.; Arnold C. Blake, Hill, New Hampshire; George E. Brien, Nashua, New Hampshire; Halstead N. Colby, Concord, New Hampshire; Bradley M. Cooper, Lincoln, New Hampshire; Merlyn A. Cummings, Alton, New Hampshire; V. Hoitt Fisher, Andover, New Hampshire; H. Ellsworth Fuller, Hudson, New Hampshire; Warren H. Gee, Winchester, New Hampshire; Charles W. Gillette, Nashua, New Hampshire; Maxwell Hayes, Lincoln, New Hampshire; Ralph D. Holt, Nashua, New Hampshire; Norman J. Houton Bath, New Hampshire; Morris R. Marsh, Gonic, New Hampshire; Henry M. Smith, Dover, New Hampshire; Stanley Szlosek, Nashua, New Hampshire; Raymond T. Tapscott, Somersworth, New Hampshire; Thomas Tomasian, Nashua, New Hampshire; Hubert A. Lavallee, Berlin, New Hampshire. (Continued on Page 4)

The New England states as most representative and valuable, to see some very good examples of them. Some sort of prizes are to be awarded to the exhibitors of the best displays shown, members of the fruit judging class acting as judges.

The Tower suggests that we have our Winter Carnival next week. We have snow now, which is something that will be absent on February 14 and 15. On the other hand, all those who think that snow is necessary for a successful Carnival will please flap their left ear two times.

Dear Water Tower:

Dear Ed:
Did you ever try Listerine? Water Tower

At last the Tower has figured out that story in the Bible about the three men who were put in a furnace but walked around inside with perfect composure and no burns. It must have been one of those fraternity house furnaces.

The small enrollment in the college of forestry may be due to its shady reputation.

The following contribution should have been printed a couple weeks ago but it slipped down between a couple gin fizzes and so was mislaid.

The Tower believes that if the young generation wants to make whoopee and go to the dogs, that's its business. But why let the very young see such examples of debauchery and wickedness as the Mil Art ball? That bass horn player at the gym must have been terribly shocked, poor l'il feller.

That sixteen game hockey schedule is about the stiffest one that the Tower has ever run across in Intercollegiate hockey. Here's to luck!

"Shotgun" Roberts bagged a couple of rabbits last Tuesday.

The report that his red hat originally belonged to John McGraw is erroneous. It was given to him by the Prince of Walls when he visited Durham back in '08. Boney was a freshman at the time.

The current report that Vic's finger was cut when the bottle broke is vigorously denied by that young man. For the Doubting Tommies, he will deliver a recitation in the Stereopticon Room next Sunday as to the true cause of the accident.

Do you know that the freshman girls will not go danceless the night of the Pan Hel dance? A prominent fraternity will hold open house for them in the way of an informal dance. And with no real competition—oh my.

Tony Sarg will pull a few strings tonight. It wouldn't be a bad idea if we took a couple tips from him. With exams but a week away, it isn't really a bad idea.

Eight Qualify For Debating

Bright Prospects for Intercollegiate Teams

Robert Ayers, High Man, Hetzel Scholarship Winner—Other Seven Men Products of English 61a—Women's Teams Complete

Tryouts for varsity intercollegiate debating, English 62b, were held in Murkland Auditorium last Tuesday afternoon, under the supervision of Professor Edmund Cortez. Eight men were picked from a large group of contestants for places on the teams, four men for regular speakers and four for alternates. Only two veterans will debate this winter. The question argued in the tryouts was, RESOLVED: That the Canadian System of Liquor Control is Preferable to That of the United States.

The contestants were ranked on logic, stage presence, and possibilities of development under training. The judges were Doctor Herbert F. Rudd, of the sociology department; Professor Donald C. Babcock, of the history department; and Professor Philip G. Neserius of the political science department. The time-keepers were James Hanley, and Louis Schwartz, members of Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary debating society.

The men who won first place, in the order of their judged ability, are: J. Robert Ayers, '32; Vincent Scamparino, '30; C. Monroe Walker, '31; Edward Wolf, '31; Sydney Woodbridge, '32; C. W. Ellis, '30; Ernest M. Perkins, '30; and D. W. Fesenden, '32. All these men are products of English 61a, the preliminary debating course, except Robert Ayers. Ayers won the Hetzel Intercollegiate Debating Scholarship two successive years, being judged the best speaker in the state during his senior year in high school. During his junior year he was a member of a two man team which beat the Maine Intercollegiate champions on their own question.

Three women were prepared to try out for the women's teams, but only three were needed to complete the teams; so it was unnecessary to hold a competition. The names of these women and of the veterans of both the men's and women's teams were not announced by Professor Cortez.

According to Professor Cortez, there is exceptional material for the teams, and New Hampshire ought to make a very good showing this winter.

MIL. ART DANCE IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Red Ramblers Furnish Music for Huge Social Success—Hall Attractively Decorated with Flags and Guns

The annual Military Ball, sponsored by Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, at the University of New Hampshire was held last Friday evening at the University Gymnasium.

About 160 couples attended the dance, which was one of the most brilliant spectacles of the year. The hall was decorated with signal flags of the International code. Around the hall there were machine gun nests which were so well concealed that careful scrutiny was necessary to find them. The music was furnished by the Red Ramblers.

The chaperones for the evening were President and Mrs. Edward M. Lewis, Major and Mrs. Hugo E. Pitz, Lieut. and Mrs. G. B. Anderson, Lieut. and Mrs. F. F. McGraw, Professor and Mrs. Thorsten Kalijarvi and Director and Mrs. J. C. Kendall.

The officers of Scabbard and Blade are: President, Charles Bianchi, Worcester, Mass., Vice-President, W. C. Adams, Exeter, N. H.; Secretary, J. T. Fish, East Kingston, N. H.; Treasurer, Bradley Cooper, Lincoln, N. H. The other members of Scabbard and Blade are: J. E. Flanagan, Portsmouth, N. H.; Wade H. Roberts, Dover, N. H.; Fiore Campana, Lebanon, N. H.; T. W. Minah, Nashua, N. H.; Fred C. Pettie, Franconstown, N. H.; Warren H. Gee, Winchester, N. H.; M. R. Patenaude, Henniker, N. H.; and E. H. Southmayd, Franklin, N. H.

COLLEGE BRED STAR CAST IN "JEALOUSY"

Late Jeanne Eagels, Star of "Rain," "The Cardboard Lover," and "The Letter," in Her Last All-talking Paramount Picture

Fredric March, the leading man opposite Jeanne Eagels in "Jealousy," is an outstanding example of the way in which college trained actors are being attracted to the motion picture field with the advent of the talkies. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin with high honors, so high in fact that he was given a position in one of New York's leading banks. After he left banking and went on the stage he still harbored the same animosity which the old school of stage (Continued on Page 3)

MAJORITY OF FROSH EARN OWN EXPENSES

72 Per Cent. of Present Freshmen Earning Part or All of Way Through College

By C. M. W., '31

If we take the present freshman class as fairly representative of the student body in general, we may obtain some very interesting information from a careful perusal of the freshman statistics on college expenses and the per cent. self-earned as reported by the registrar from his registration data.

Let us first compare the attitudes taken by the instate and the out-of-state students. 18 per cent. of the out-of-staters earn all their expenses themselves as compared with 14 per cent. of New Hampshire natives who work at various jobs while attending school in an effort to get a college education without having it paid for by other persons. However only 14 per cent. of the in-staters have their entire expenses paid by parents or friends while 42 per cent. of that small group of undergraduates who are out-of-staters have all their expenses paid for them.

86 per cent. of the New Hampshire-ites earn either part or all of their way while here at college. At least that's what they intended when they registered for the first time in September. 58 per cent. of the outsiders earn either part or all of their expenses, or rather intended to in September. Perhaps they have since changed their minds. We wonder if there wouldn't be a big difference in the answers given if that questionnaire should be repeated again at the beginning of their sophomore or even of their junior years. We feel sure that there would be much fewer 100 per centers.

Looking at these statistics from an entirely non-partisan viewpoint, that is, omitting the question of in-state and out-of-state students, we find that 72 per cent. of the present freshman class are supposed, if intent may be taken for the reality, to be earning some or all of their way through the university, while only 28 per cent. are expecting to gain their college education at the expense and sacrifice of parents or friends. There are 10 who earn one-tenth, 69 one-fourth, 25 one-third, 76 one-half, 60 three-fourths, 13 nine-tenths, and 52 all of their expenses. And there are 121 who are attending the university without any necessity to work since they have parents or friends who are willing to pay their expenses for them.

Term Play Goes
to PortsmouthThe Truth About Blayds
Appears in Road Debut

Entire Cast Under Direction of Professor William G. Hennessey with Mask and Dagger Orchestra Turn Troupers

by J. B. M. '32

When Mask and Dagger, the University dramatic society, takes the road to Portsmouth next Tuesday evening with its fall term show, "The Truth About Blayds," it will take with it the same cast which so delightfully presented the popular Milne production to Durham audiences two weeks ago in the Little Theatre of Munkland Hall. Under the auspices of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, Professor William G. Hennessey's well trained troupers, will present for the first time an out-of-town production of a fall term play.

The Portsmouth audience is sure to be pleased with the work of Miss Marion Pearson in the role of Isobel Blayds and with that of Edward Haseltine who plays opposite her in the equally difficult role of A. L. Royce. Miss Pearson was the "find" of the term and her remarkable ability in handling tense situations throughout the entire play was certainly remarkable. Likened by Professor Hennessey to the famous actress, Maude Adams, Miss Pearson possesses a very effective voice combined with a pleasing stage presence.

The title role, as played by Frederick Gardner, is certain to make any audience like the old gentleman in spite of what is disclosed about him in the course of the action of the play.

In the supporting cast appears Miss Carol Mather playing the part of Marion Blayds-Conway and Sydney Woodbridge as William Blayds-Conway who are very effective in the presentation of their respective characters. The juvenile leads are ably taken by Miss Beatrice Luce and Gunnar Kelstrand who play the parts of Septima and Oliver Blayds-Conway. Miss Virginia Powers makes an efficient maid under the name of Parsons.

With the players the Mask and Dagger orchestra will also make the trip to Portsmouth to make the performance in that city as near like a typical University performance as possible.

DANCES STAGED AT THREE
CHAPTER HOUSES SATURDAY

Three of the local chapters of national fraternities held their annual fall house-dances last week-end, along with the Scabbard and Blade Ball. These houses were Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, and Lambda Chi Alpha.

About thirty-five couples attended the affair at the Kappa house. Music was furnished by the Red Ramblers. The chaperones were Major and Mrs. H. E. Pitz, and Mr. and Mrs. John Kendall. Several alumni and friends of the fraternity were present. The committee in charge included Edmund Sucke, Thomas McKeon, Gerald Morin, and Francis Colburn.

Music at the Alpha Tau Omega dance was furnished by Charlie Barrett and his Ramblers from Manchester. The chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Thorsten W. Kalijarvi and Coach and Mrs. Carl Lundholm. Several guests were present for the affair including Ray Sawyer of Theta Chi fraternity and some of the alumni. Decorations were in the form of evergreen boughs and a variety of colored lights. The committee consisted of Frederick Gardner, chairman, George Hadley, and D. Robert Leach.

The Lambda Chi party included a radio entertainment Saturday afternoon, at which time the guests were given an opportunity to listen to some of the big athletic events of the day, and an informal dance in the evening. Music for the dance was furnished by Bo Garland and his band from Portsmouth. The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Rollins and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Y. Blewett.

actors have had since the advent of the movies, in their silent form. When the motion pictures first started over thirty years ago the producers looked to the stage for their talent but anyone who heeded their offers was usually ostracised from the ranks of the legitimate actors. To Adolph Zukor goes the honors for attracting the first stage names to the silent drama, and likewise came Fredric March to the company headed by this same genius of entertainment.

While in the West, playing in stock, March was often approached with offers to go on the screen, but all these he candidly refused until after the advent of the talking pictures. When Paramount offered him a part in "The Dummy," he accepted and immediately gained a wide screen following. His next role was that of Gil Gilmore opposite Clara Bow in "The Wild Party," which greatly increased his popularity.

March is but the leader of a host of college graduates who have come to realize that the talking pictures present a new field for their efforts where education is essential.

"Jealousy" is the all-talking Paramount picture coming to the Franklin theatre tomorrow and is hailed as an epochal advance in better entertainment as was "The Letter," Miss Egals' first talking picture.

IT'S REALLY A SHAME TO INTERRUPT THE PROFESSOR'S CHASE OF THE DIURNAL LEPIDOPTERA AND TURN THE BULL ON HIM BUT YOU HAVE TO BLAME THE ARTIST FOR THAT.

Obviously, few of us have the chance—or temerity—to make matadors out of ourselves. But even in the normal course of human events, there's nothing so welcome as a refreshing pause. Happily there's a soda fountain or refreshment stand—with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready—around the corner from anywhere. With its delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, it makes a little minute long enough for a big rest.

BOSTON ALUMNI ACT ON STUDENT WAGES

Advocate Higher Scale of Pay for Students Working in Durham—Plans for Meetings of the Year Discussed

A meeting of the Boston Club of the University of New Hampshire alumni was held Friday evening, November 22, at the Hotel Statler. This was the first meeting of the club since the election of officers held at the rally the night before the New Hampshire-Harvard game.

During the short business meeting Chris O'Leary called to the attention of the club the low wage paid in Durham for student labor. It was thereupon noted that the Boston Club send the following resolution to the Board of Trustees of the University; Resolved: That the Boston Club of the University of New Hampshire Alumni Association express its disapproval of the current wages paid for student labor at Durham, and urge that the Trustees authorize the raising of this labor wage to such a point as will make it commensurate with the present standards of living.

At the close of the business meeting Judge Henry A. Shute of Exeter was introduced as the speaker of the evening. Judge Shute talked for a short time about his admiration for the University of New Hampshire. He then read three of his short stories, one about a football game in the 60's, one about his experiences playing in the band, and one of his typical "Blumpy" stories, all of which were much enjoyed.

The following program has been presented as the schedule for the remaining meetings of the year:

January 24, 1930—Parlor A, Hotel Statler, Public Bridge and Whist. Proceeds to be donated to Alumni Loyalty Fund.

February 19, 1930—M. I. T.-New Hampshire basketball game at Tech Hangar, Cambridge.

March 14 or 21, 1930—Meeting, fourth floor Hotel Statler, Speaker, Rev. Vaughn Dabney, former pastor Durham Community Church.

April 25 or May 2, 1930—Annual Banquet, Hotel Statler. Program and speakers to be arranged.

The officers for the current year, elected at the meeting October 11 are: President, Chris J. O'Leary, '20; Vice-President, Lawrence S. Holland, '25; Secretary, Frances Fairchild Taylor, '27; Treasurer, Samuel Patrick, '23.

FROM OUR MAIL BOX

Editor's Note: The following letter was mislaid and hence appears in this column at this late date. The fault lies with us and not with the author for delay in publishing.

To the Editor:

May I through THE NEW HAMPSHIRE make a somewhat tardy expression of appreciation to the students of the University and their representative bodies for the splendid spirit of cooperation which they exhibited in connection with the Boston Club rally on October 11 at the Hotel Statler, and the dance on October 12 at the same place.

May I voice especial appreciation of the services of the cheer leaders for their whole hearted willingness to assist us and to promptly meet our every suggestion with courtesy and fulfillment.

I must apologize for these somewhat tardy thanks with the explanation that serious illness in the family required my undivided attention, and many personal matters had to be neglected. Though late I wish to assure those who I am thanking that my appreciation is none the less sincere.

Yours for New Hampshire, Chris O'Leary, '20, President of the Boston Club

Winter Sports Prospects Good

Veteran Team to Defend I. W. S. U. Championship

Candidates Take Advantage of Early Season Snow for Practice—Team Makes Debut in College Week Competition at Lake Placid During Christmas Vacation

Winter sports are all getting underway very rapidly although officially the season does not open up for a month. With three inches of snow on the ground, the Winter sports men are busy preparing for the strenuous season ahead. It is expected that the season's schedule will be practically the same as that of last year with the college week competition at Lake Placid, probably sometime during the Christmas vacation, the Dartmouth Winter Carnival, the New Hampshire winter carnival, and the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union meet which will be held at Montreal, Canada, this year. Thus in preparation for these events, it is necessary for the ski and snowshoe men to utilize every available opportunity to work out. The skaters have already been on the ice for about two weeks.

Graduation last year took away several members of the sports team, including R. E. Tetley, who won the two-mile skating championship, and was second in the 440 yard event, John Wendell who was third in the 440 yard event and fourth in the two-mile, and J. Langford, who was sixth in the seven-mile ski race. Wally Lovell, a promising candidate for this year, transferred to Bates College, where he will probably continue his skating ability. He won the quarter-mile skating event.

Even though the team has lost the above four, there are still six other letter men, who gained recognition in the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union meets of the past few years. Ernest Pederson, '30, Theta Chi, was ski-jump, slalom, and mile down hill ski race champion in the events of 1929. Frank Dustin, '30, Phi Delta Upsilon, was the seven-mile ski race champion of 1928. In the first meet of the season of 1929 he was injured and was thus unable to compete in the events of the remainder of the season. Henry Hazen, Alpha Gamma Rho, '31, was snowshoe champion for 1929. A. C. Lazure, '31, won third place in the two-mile snowshoe event. Eugene Mailman, Delta Pi Epsilon, finished second in the two-mile skating event. The one sophomore letter man, Dwight Perley, was fourth in the seven-mile skiing race and fourth in the slalom events. In addition to the above letter men there is a squad of twenty-eight veterans who are proficient in their various specialties. The squad consists of the following:

Ski Events

K. Boothroyd, H. Coldwell, E. Dustin, R. J. Ellsworth, H. Finley, E. Greenwood, N. Hazzard, L. Thorin, J. White, C. Woodward, D. Young, Stoughton, R. Ojanen, S. Davidson, R. McDonald, E. J. Blood, Theodore Hikel, and the letter men, Ernest Pederson, Frank Dustin, and Dwight Perley.

Snowshoes

R. Burbank, M. Chase, A. Szuch, A. Patch, and the letter men A. Lazure, H. Hazen.

Speed Skating

Harry Mailman, A. Burns, M. Chase, Whicher, E. J. Blood, and the letter man Eugene Mailman.

Figure Skating

Chase A. Witkus.

It is expected that several freshmen who have gained distinction or who have enjoyed the pleasures gained in winter sports will report soon. The great need is for recruits in speed skating, and snowshoeing events. With the material at hand and such a bright outlook toward the future, the winter sports team not only ought to hold up to its former exceptional record, but ought also to exceed in at least a few events.

seniors will be allowed to take the course this year, since the work was not given at the time when they were juniors.

The rapid advance in aviation and its increasing importance in commerce and industry have influenced the University authorities in deciding to install this work at this time. In addition to the regular instruction in aeronautics the installation of this course will insure more effective work by the Aviation Club of the University, which includes students from all three Colleges.

LOOKING AHEAD

by The Observer

Just about the time we are thinking of the close of the football season along comes an excellently prepared booklet from the Lake Placid Club outlining that organization's plans for winter sports in the 1929-30 season. New Hampshire gets considerable mention in the booklet, and there is an excellent picture of Ernest Pederson. A summary is given of the Lake Placid Club competition and the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union championships both of which were won last year at Lake Placid by New Hampshire.

The booklet outlines the program for the ninth annual college week which begins December 30 and ends on New Year's day with the ski-jumping competition for the Marshal Foch Trophy. New Hampshire will defend its title at that time, with a veteran group of winter sports men.

One interesting feature of the booklet is the simplified spelling which is a novel practice at the Lake Placid Club. Stories have come back to us in the past of the difficulty some of the Wildcat snowmen had to read a menu at the Lake Placid Club. If we came to a door on which was inscribed the word "ofis" there was some doubt as to just what we would do.

The close of the football season finds New Hampshire rating fifteenth place out of sixty-three colleges in the East for a season's record. Dick Eustis holds thirty-fourth place in high scoring honors in the East, which is by no means at the bottom of the list.

We didn't have time to prepare the statistics regarding the football season that we spoke of in the last issue, for we were wrecked by Dartmouth and Holy Cross spoiling our final predictions of the season.

If the cold weather continues the hockey team will soon swing into action as will the skating candidates for the winter sports team. The loss of Wendell, Tetley and Lovell will be keenly felt in the skating section of the winter sports team.

It looks as though the team will have a little practice before they go to Lake Placid, for there is about enough snow for skis and snowshoes.

State newspapers early this week contained pictures of the Proctor Academy football team which had a successful season under the coaching of Lyle Farrell, '29, captain of the 1928 football team at New Hampshire.

It is hard to tell what Coach Swasey will do with the basketball team. New Hampshire usually meets with good success in this sport, and there are several veteran players to form a nucleus for the 1930 season.

And now as they would write at Lake Placid, "we will leave our ofis for our loj in the mountains and will see yu next term."

At the present time he has developed the art far beyond the most perfect creations of past marionette theaters. At a congress recently held in Paris, representing the marionette theaters of the world the popularity of the art was indicated by representation of nearly all of the countries of the world.

Mr. Sarg's company is the only one which has an annual season in New York and which has a coast to coast tour. It is the original New York company which will appear in Durham. The stage which is used is complete with all furnishings and lighting. There is music throughout. The marionettes are operated by means of wires, requiring eight people for the purpose. The talking is furnished by the human manipulators. The final effect is so realistic that many people have remarked that when Mr. Sarg appears on the stage after the performance, with his dolls it seems that he is a giant out of place rather than that the marionettes are smaller than humans.

The other numbers of the Lyceum course are Lowell Thomas, Povla Frish, The Russian Cossack Chorus, The Hernandez Brothers and Senorita Lolita, and the Laurent Sextet.

Pucksters Face Hard Schedule

Organization of First Freshman Team Planned

Thirty-five Candidates Answer First Call—Ten Veterans to Form Nucleus of Varsity Team—To Open Schedule with Northeastern January 4 at Durham

The candidates for the University of New Hampshire hockey team reported at the gym on Monday afternoon, thirty-five men answering the first call. New Hampshire faces a hard schedule this year, but the outlook at present is quite favorable. Whether or not the team will be as good as the last year's team can hardly be ascertained at present as the team has had little practice. The remainder of the term will be spent in practice on the pond and the giving of plays and instructions by Coach Ernest W. Christensen, '23. "Cris" has put out some fine teams in the past, and may be relied upon to develop as fine a team as is possible.

The loss of "Al" Reinhart, the captain of last year's team, and one of the best hockey players that New Hampshire has ever had, will be greatly noticed. Of the thirty-five men that reported, there are ten veterans who will form a nucleus for this year's team, which will be supplemented by new men from last year's freshman class.

Of the veterans, McFarland, Coburn and Michaud will form the backbone of the defence. All of these men have had a great deal of experience, and were the main factors in the defence which worked so well on last year's team. Backed by Tasker who had considerable experience last year at defending the cage, it will take a lot of hard work by any team to get the puck inside of the New Hampshire goal. Rex Dean and one or two of last year's freshmen will be in reserve for goal tending. On the first day of practice, held at the University pond on Tuesday of this week, Dean was unfortunate in having a cut on his forehead and a bruised finger caused by a puck that was difficult to see in the dusk. He expects to report again this week for practice.

As to the offensive, there is a greater problem before the coach. Croke and Parkinson for right wing, Higgins and Lavallie at center, and Woolridge at left wing are among the veterans reporting. Other new men will undoubtedly be developed and used during the season. Last year Harry Croke lost a finger and was lost to the team for the latter part of the season. He was at top form in his playing when this accident occurred, but should show his speed and flashy passing on the ice again this year. It is believed that the loss of his finger will not hamper his playing to any extent.

New Hampshire is to have its first freshman team this year, but as is true of most first year teams, it is hard to prophesy just how good a team it will be, there having been no practice as yet. From all reports it should shape up well, there being a number of freshmen that have played on high school and prep school teams before coming here. Candidates for the freshman team will probably not report until next term, when all of the winter sports teams will start actual practice immediately on return from the Christmas vacation.

The rinks are now being erected in back of the gym, and should be ready for use at the beginning of the winter term. The pond may be used occasionally for practice when ice in the rinks is being planed. If the weather continues to be as cold as it has started to be, there should be some fine games seen at the rinks this year.

New Hampshire has had some fine hockey teams in the past, as a glance at the scores will show, but this year's schedule is one of the hardest that any team has had to face. There are ten home games and six away. Among the home games, those with Brown, Boston University, M. I. T., West Point and Harvard should draw considerably large crowds, and some fast and hard playing can be promised on the part of the team. The freshman schedule is not yet completed, but will have five or six games on it. Alvin Reinhart, captain of last year's varsity team will coach the freshman team. Kenneth McLeod of Concord, N. H., is manager of the varsity team, and Floyd G. Bryant of Tilton is assistant, and manager of the Freshman team.
